At State Convention

Among the women of Lower Merion-Narberth Council of Republican Women who attended the State Convention in Harrisburg last week were Mrs. H. Tatnall Brown, Jr., of Havertford, President of the Council; Mrs. Theodore Benade, of Cynwyd, and Mrs. LeRoy C. Douglass, of Narberth, and Mrs. Ella Hammond, of Bryn Mawr.

School Celebrates Victory With Half-Holiday

A half-holiday was given to the boys and girls of the Lower Merion High School last Monday in celebration of the sensational victory over the Radnor football team last Saturday. At a rally held in the auditorium in the morning session, announcement was made of John Pennypacker's election to the football captaincy, which was received with thunderous applause, and the members of the victorious team spoke to the assembled multitudes.

Speeches were made also by Superintendent S. E. Downs, Edward H. Snow, Junior High Principal; William Nash, of the high school faculty; Coach Albert Adam, Barney Fisher, the annual holder of the horseshoe at the Radnor game and popular alumnus, and Frank McCready, president of the Alumni Association.

He Broke the Tie

"Tip" Peters, of Narberth, half-back of the Lower Merion eleven, whose sensational run of fifty-five yards for a touchdown following his interception of a Radnor pass in the last minute of play broke the scoreless tie and gave victory to the Maroon.

Increased Attendance Marks Forum Meeting

The Forum met with an increased attendance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Russell Green, on Woodbine Avenue, last Thursday evening and, under the leadership of the Rev. Robert E. Keighton, continued the discussion and study of "The Modern Use of the Bible," by Harry Emerson Fosdick. The chapters which were considered were those entitled, "The Old Book in a New World" and "The Ancient Solution."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Arley Farnier, at the corner of Woodbine and Cleveland Avenues, beginning at 8 o'clock on the evening of Thursday, December 5.

'Winnie and the Wise Young Man' to Be Given December 6 by Bala-Cynwyd Jr. Woman's Club

Terry Fales, who was writing a book about lizards, considered himself a wise young man. He made the dangerous boast that no woman could fool him. Winnie, winsome, but with a will of her own, overheard the remark. She followed him to a hotel, obtained a job as magazine clerk; and as Tessie, she made life very exciting for this wise young man. Her plans to discipline Terry become very complicated. The possibility that she might fall in love with her victim had not entered Winnie's canny calculations, so she planned to leave the hotel. However, a costume party, during which many things were explained, made a happy climax to this exciting play to be presented next Friday evening, December 6, by the Junior Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd.

The play, "Winnie and the Wise Young Man," in three acts, by Leta Larrimore, will be given in the Bala-

Lower Merion Ends Undeclared Season With Sensational Victory Over Radnor

Pennypacker Elected Lower Merion Captain

John Pennypacker, of Ardmore, son of the late Principal C. B. Pennypacker, was unanimously elected captain of the Lower Merion football team for 1930 in an election held by the letter men Monday morning at the high school. John was a star end on the team this season, his tackling and all-around defensive work making him not only one of the most valuable men on the squad, but one of outstanding ability and courage.

John will make a popular leader for the Maroon and White. He is a member of the Junior Class and a star basketball player and pole vaulter.

'Thru Stop' Signs

Many residents of the township have probably noticed that the Commissioners have placed "Thru-Stop" signs at a great many road intersections in the township, particularly the roads intersecting Montgomery Avenue. There will be more signs posted in the near future and we are told that the Borough of Narberth intends to place signs at most of their intersections.

The State has used similar signs for a number of years and has tried to impress upon the public that the "Thru-Stop" signs mean STOP, not simply to slow up and then proceed.

The Commissioners have placed these signs with the belief that they will prevent serious accidents and hope that the public will realize the importance of stopping at the intersections where these signs are placed.

CHARLES P. SMITH,
Superintendent of Police.

Peters Runs Sixty-five Yards For Touchdown in Last Minute of Play.

INTERCEPTED FORWARD

By Tommy Macklin.

Eight seconds to go. The enemy shoots a pass far down the field in a last desperate effort to eke out a victory over a superior foe. Suddenly a figure darts from somewhere in the background, reaches into the air and takes the ball meant for another and is away down the field before anyone knows what it is all about. The ball is a boomerang. It comes back up the field clutched close to the breast of a flying figure who crosses the chalk marks of the gridiron like the wind. Interference forms from nowhere and the ball and its carrier are over the goal line. Lower Merion, 6; Radnor, 0.

Such was the finish of a glorious season for the Maroon and White. Starting the year off with an overwhelming victory over Berwyn, Coach Adam's boys had trampled over every foe, and fate would not have dealt kindly had this final game of the season ended in a tie.

Tip Peters, Al Mandes, George Hansell and Old Man Opportunity scored the touchdown that ended the season so sensationally for the Maroon team.

Bake Sale December 14

On Saturday, December 14, the Ladies' Aid Society of the Lutheran Church will hold a home-bake sale in the social room. Fancy goods and those much-called-for aprons may also be obtained.

Narberth Fire Company to Join in Ardmore Parade

The Narberth Fire Company will participate in the parade and housing exercises of the new aerial ladder truck of the Merion Fire Company of Ardmore on Saturday. The Company's three pieces of apparatus, thirty men and a band, will take part. Seventy fire companies from Montgomery and Delaware Counties have been invited to participate and it is expected that the great majority of them will be represented. The exercises will commence at 2 P. M. with the parade and the housing exercises following immediately after at the fire house on Greenfield Avenue.

At the regular meeting of the Narberth Fire Company on Tuesday night President Tristan B. duMarais spoke of the loss of two former members of the company, Charles E. Humphries and Richard H. Wallace. A motion, expressing the sympathy of the company to the members of their families, was passed and a moment of silent prayer was joined in by all present.

Edward Woolman Fills College Board Vacancy

Engineer Chosen As Member of Board of Managers at Haverford.

Edward Woolman, of Haverford, was elected to the Board of Managers last Friday to fill the vacancy left by the death of William H. Haines. Following the annual custom, the Board met at Haverford, taking dinner with the faculty at night.

As an alumnus and neighbor of Haverford Mr. Woolman has for years been interested in the college and has worked for its betterment. A mechanical engineer by calling, he was before his retirement successively affiliated with the Welsbach Light Co., F. J. Stokes Chemical Machinery Co., E. W. Woolman Dairy Co., Supplee-Wills-Jones Milk Co. and Highland Dairies, Inc.

In conjunction with the Campus Club, Mr. Woolman has recently been engaged in planting seedlings at the southeastern corner of the college property. He is a member of the State Forestry Association and is active in forestry, hunting and fishing.

A grant of $1000 was placed at the disposal of R. J. Johnston, superintendent of buildings and grounds, as a result of his request for funds to be used in special care of the trees on the campus.

Decision was reached by the Board to hold the May meeting of the group at Haverford, in addition to the two fall meetings in October and November.

The dinner with the faculty at 7:15 was marked by speeches by members of the faculty, who outlined the work of their department and showed their relations with other college courses.

Douglas V. Steere, associate professor of Philosophy, stressed Haverford's unique opportunity to teach more than Philosophy when students had access to the best collection of works on religious mysticism in the United States possessed by the college library and Dr. Rufus M. Jones.

Mr. Steere suggested that in the course of a few years the college would feel the need of a man to teach Psychology exclusively and to give courses in education.

Harvey J. Harman, football coach and instructor in athletics, showed the educational and moral value of football in connection with the college curriculum. He emphasized the advantage to Haverford of the publicity brought by sports, pointing to newspaper stories and to numerous instances when he had been introduced to audiences as 'Haverford football coach.'

THE BIG DIVIDENDS OF RADIO!

Dividends of pretty much everything which adds to the zest and value of life.

A broad contact with the great world outside and of all the best it has to offer.

And with more than a hint, in the tremendous mystery of the thing, of what lies beyond old Earth itself!

Instruction, information, the big shots of the day and generation brought to the intimacy of our very hearthsides; news the instant it occurs; with music, entertainment and rollicking no end.

The next thing, maybe, will be to hear the witnesses on the stand, same as Philip Livingston has been doing as he sat at first base in the jury box at Norristown.

And if, perchance, something comes in which we don't want or like, then forthwith we can snap it out, after the manner we exit Beezlebub and his tribe.

THE POINT IS: OUR RADIO OUGHT TO DO WHAT WE WANT DONE AT THE TIME WE WANT IT DONE.

To be unmindful of the marvelous strides of recent months, and to attempt to dragnet the wonderful Universe with anything less than is possible to you, would seem to indicate you have not had the opportunity to post yourself on the many brand-new facts which have been added lately to the Record of Radio.

WE WANT YOU TO KNOW HOW FAR YOUR DOLLAR WILL GO UNDER THE NEW CONDITIONS—

what extraordinary improvements have been made in every aspect of radio reception—the noteworthy contribution which 1930 models are making to the cause of the Home Beautiful by the design and craftsmanship of the cabinets—artistic gems, all of them, irrespective of the price you pay!

Repertory Theatre Rehearsing 2d Play

Andreyev's 'He Who Gets Slapped' to Be Presented by Main Line Group.

IS THURSDAY, DEC. 12

The Main Line Repertory Theatre, which opened its season on October 29 with the successful presentation of "The Circle," is now rehearsing its second play of the season, which will be given at the Woman's Club of Bala-Cynwyd on Thursday evening, December 12. The vehicles for these talented players on this date will be the well-known "He Who Gets Slapped," written by the Russian dramatist, Leonid Andreyev. While the tendency of all Russian writers is toward the morbid, this play is written in a lighter vein, and the more dramatic scenes are balanced somewhat by others containing some comedy.

The title role of the play is being interpreted by R. H. MacBride, of Germantown; while the part of the beautiful Consuelo is being played by Joanne Chew, of Merion. Dorothy R. Loder, of Haverford, will appear as Zinida, the lion tamer, and J. Dean Joly, of Wynnewood, will be seen as Count Mancini. Jackson, the leading clown, is played by Norman Bryant, of Overbrook, and Baron Regnard will be portrayed by George F. Joly, of Wynnewood. Briquet, the manager of the circus, will be played by Harrison C. Bartlett, of Cynwyd; while Richard Y. Medary, of Bala, is cast as Bezano, a bareback rider. Lewis W. Easby, of Narberth, will play the gentleman from "out there." Others in the cast are Tilly and Polly, musical clowns, Miriam Vane, of Merion, and Peggy Doyle Garrick, of Germantown; Estelle and Angelica, trapeze performers, Lisel and Helena Borricke, of Wynnewood; Vera, a snake charmer, Elizabeth F. McCloy, of Overbrook; Renee, a sword dancer; Anne Sayen, of the Art Alliance, Philadelphia; Grab, Flora and Helen, ballet girls, Anne Polk Speed, of Narberth, Georgette C. Archer, of Overbrook, and Dorothy Russell, of Cynwyd.

The action of "He Who Gets Slapped" takes place in the manager's office of a French circus. "He," a gentleman from "out there," joins the circus to become a clown and forget the other world. He prefers the slaps as a clown to the slaps to an intellectual man "out there." While in the circus, he sees that Consuelo, representing Beauty, is about to be destroyed by a Spider, the Baron, and when he sees it is impossible for her to escape, he saves her in the only way possible.

The production is under the direction of Julian W. Gardy, who so successfully staged "The Circle" and "The Romantic Age."

Hold Oyster Supper

Wohlert to Furnish Trees For Display Garden on L. I.

Mr. Wohlert has furnished the Oriental flowering trees for the "Garden," which, when completed, will contain one of the finest collections of flowers, trees and shrubs in the world.

It is expected that in years to come this garden will attract thousands of visitors from all parts of the country just as the Arnold Arboretum and Cherry Season at the nation's capital now draw multitudes annually.

Highway Committee Explains Wynnewood Court Paving

The Highway Committee of the Borough Council, Messrs. Wood, Bates and Haws, by direction of Council, held a hearing in the Council Chamber last Friday evening in response to a petition from property owners on Wynnewood Court who wished to have a review and revision of the charges which had been levied against them for the recent paving of their street. Councilman Wood, as chairman of the committee, presided, and J. E. Shewell was the spokesman for the petitioners.

The petitioners had asked to be heard on four counts which were: (1) excessive engineering costs; (2) grading and end wall and curbing; (3) differences between estimated contract and actual costs per linear foot; (4) the hardship of the manner of payment of charges. Each of these counts was discussed in detail and the committee answered all questions and produced all records having a bearing upon this matter.

At the conclusion of the hearing, the Wynnewood Court petitioners stated that while it had been their hope that they might be able to secure a reduction in the charges, they had been satisfied at the hearing that the bills were properly determined and equably apportioned. The petitioners had not expected that the improvement would cost so much, but after they had been given all of the facts they had no criticisms to make of the manner in which the work had been done and of the actual expense incurred.

FORE AND AFT

I'm the collie dog that wandered on the Ardmore greensward Saturday afternoon, and a wild time I had of it, I can tell you.

Some boys in white jerseys were playing some others in red ones, and they were having a lot of fun, kicking, throwing and carrying a big leather ball around, when I decided to join in the fun. I got chased away from them; but when I tried to leave the field, a lot of people seated along the side began yelling. I ran away from them, and then the people on the other side began yelling, and I didn't know where to go.

One of the teams—the boys in white jerseys—almost pushed past the boys in red, and tried to carry the ball to some goal posts at one end of the field. But the rednor team wouldn't let them past. I heard a man say afterwards that the rednor team played better than it could play, to prevent the lower merion players from scoring early in the game.

Sniffing hot dogs, I departed from the game, and between halves I watched the people—thousands of them—from the hill back of the field. There were people everywhere—looking from stands where they were sitting, all around the field, standing on rooftops, hanging on railings, and looking out of windows. In the stands there were hundreds of girls with blue and purple hats, quite a lot with red ones, and others with green. They looked quite nice. Lots of fur coats, too. And when the bands marched around the field, maybe it didn't look and sound nice. There were three lower merion high school bands, including one with all girls playing. And rednor sent a band, and bryn mawr had one, and ardmore's legion sent a nice looking one, with colors flying. Good music, too.

Then the second half began, and the boys starting playing again. The ball was all wet and muddy, and so was the field. The boys kept pushing each other, trying to take the ball to the goal posts, but both teams were playing too well, and it looked as if they would end the game as they did last year and the year before—with no goal-crossing.

But the boys in red jerseys tried throwing the ball more, and finally, just when the game was almost over, one of the lower merion boys caught the ball as nice as you could wish, and you should have heard that crowd yell! He ran all the way—sixty-five yards—to the goal line, while two other fellows in white jerseys prevented the rednor boys from upsetting him. I haven't heard so much happy noise since the last time the master tuned in real loud on a philadelphia orchestra radio concert. By the way, I hear mister stokowski's going to broadcast again on sunday a week.

After the game I heard a couple fellows talking about tip peters—he's the one who made the big run with the ball. They said it was a wonder he did as well as he did in the game, because his leg had a bump on it from another game three weeks ago. They said no wonder he couldn't kick better than he did. Then one of them stumbled over me, and I departed thitherward, because he looked as if he wanted to kick me, and I didn't see any bump on his leg.

The Plays and Players have under rehearsal their next production, "The Faith Healer," by William Vaughn Moody. It will be presented on the stage of the playhouse for five performances during the week of December 16.

Moody, the playwright, was the leader of the drama of spiritual revolt in the twentieth century. The story tells of a messiah who fails at the threshold of his mission, because of the love that a girl has brought into his hitherto spiritual life.

The first two performances, as is customary with the Plays and Players, will be for members and invited guests. The other three performances, on succeeding evenings, will be open for attendance by the general public, through subscription or purchase of tickets at the box office, or at the Art Alliance.

The Red Cross Thanksgiving

The goal is in sight! Because of this, and because of the faithful and untiring efforts of the volunteer workers, the courteous help of the merchants, and post office department, and the co-operation of the Narberth residents, we feel truly that we have cause to be thankful.

Report of Narberth's response to the Roll Call for the American Red Cross for 1930 will be published in next week's issue of Our Town. Any individual who has been negligent may yet make amends by sending their subscription to the chairman, Mrs. Harry Jacobs, 206 Forrest Avenue, Narberth, and thereby help the report to be one of which Narberth may be justly proud.

History Repeats

Twenty years ago Tristan B. duMarais, President of the Narberth Fire Company, turned one of the first spades of earth when ground was broken for the Fire Hall of the Merion Fire Company of Ardmore. It is quite appropriate that he should again participate on Saturday with other members of the company in the parade and exercises connected with the housing of Ardmore Company's new aerial ladder truck. Narberth's relations with its bigger brother up the line have always been pleasant and are fostered by the co-operation between Narberth and township fire companies.

What Is Advertising?

It is hard to say when advertising started so varied are its forms and manifestations. Its public billboards defacing the grandeur of nature are an offense to the eye and a disfigurement to the countryside. Its beautiful pages in color with concise, informative copy which appear in national magazines are as interesting to the reader as the stories and articles in the same media.

In the early days of newspapers and magazines the publishers were interested in producing reading matter to be paid for by the public which read it. Gradually merchants wished to insert notices in the public prints so that the readers of news would also be informed of things for sale. The demand increased till space was sold for advertising on such a scale that the size of all publications was increased. The time arrived when the advertisers paid for the publication of the periodical and the actual cost of production exceeded the amount paid by any subscriber.

That situation has long been true of this paper. The reader pays for about half the cost of the paper he receives; the advertisers present him with a 100% dividend of size and additional news each week.

Progressive Business

All adults know that it is the policy of many corporations to put a very considerable share of their earnings back into the business. Their aim is not merely maintenance of what they already own, but continuous improvements. Not simply doing better things, but always searching for better ways is the avowed program of these companies.

Certain companies that serve the public are always seeking better materials and methods. It is the stated aim of a certain great company to make such improvements as will make it possible for anyone to talk with anyone anywhere. The newspapers have recently told of the remarkable achievements of this concern.

It is very fortunate that at times steps taken to improve the service delivered to the public not only are successful in the economic field, but also in the esthetic field. The placing underground of utility wires not only makes electricity more useful, but also adds to the good appearance of a community. Wires cannot by any means be made to look well. They are less offensive when not seen.

Hens lay more when electric lights are employed to lengthen their working hours, but an Oklahoma farmer claims to have gotten even better results by crossing his White Leghorns with an owl.

Americans are slipping. It's months since the formation of a new cult with noteworthy numerical appeal.

A spider's web has no commercial value, says a scientist. It is a little too heavy, of course, for feminine apparel.

UNCLE CY'S COLUMN

Dissatisfaction

Most of the people of the world are dissatisfied. If this were not so we should never have wars, strikes, crimes or injustice. On the other hand we should never have religion, education, industry nor progress in any field.

My point is not that the satisfied man is a detriment to society, but that his normal dissatisfaction may be translated into either destructive activity or into constructive labor and thought which will benefit both present and future generations.

This seems to be becoming a sermon, but even that will be a welcome relief to you from the annoyance lists that have disturbed you for so long.

If Robert Fulton had not been dissatisfied with the uncertainty of the wind he might never have astonished the New York natives with the "Clermont" and the chances are that the "Bremen" would not have broken the trans-Atlantic record as soon as she did. If Alexander Graham Bell had not been discontent with shouting from one house to another, if Samuel Finley Breese Morse had not grown weary of delays of the post, if Guglielmo Marconi had not been urged beyond the long tangle of cross-country wires, we should not now be able to pick up an instrument here on the Main Line and converse with London, Paris or other distant points as though they were near at hand.

If the hardy Puritans had not been irked by the regulations of the Church of England, if the Cavaliers had not been weary of placidity and ease at the British court, if the Dutch, Germans, Quakers and Swedes had not looked to Pennsylvania as a spiritual refuge, we should not have had the basis for the country that now leads the world in prosperity, progress and good living, if not in scholarship and spiritual guidance.

Two or three years some forward looking citizens planned to have the River Road along the Schuylkill from West Conshohocken widened and paved for motor traffic to City Line or at least West Manayunk. This was thrown out by the Legislature for various reasons. At that time the late General John P. Wood and I attempted to interest influential people in reserving this road for a beautiful bridle path to connect with the paths in Fairmount Park. This notion failed to materialize. Our good neighbors were and are satisfied, and the River Road is a filthy path full of holes and littered with rubbish. A little absence of complacency might have given us a drive as beautiful as that along the Wissahickon.

For years the solons and citizens of Philadelphia have deplored the sight of the banks of the Schuylkill in the centre of our neighboring city. Much talk has been in and on the air; many articles and editorials have filled the city papers, but still we have the unsightly commercialism that is depressing to us and astonishing to visitors from other cities. While we have been talking our contemporary Chicago has razed buildings and warehouses along the river there and constructed a double-deck drive and drawbridges of architectural beauty that astonish the world. While we snort, debate and quibble other people are forcing dreams to come true.

Several years ago our neighbor, Henry N. Woolman, of Ardmore, had a magnificent dream of a college in the country near Valley Forge, where the undergraduates of the University of Pennsylvania might enjoy country air, patriotic atmosphere, and a liberal education. Thus far it is still a question as to whether or not Philadelphians are satisfied with the present situation.

A little discontent will go a long way to make most of us realize our greatest dreams.

An Ohio woman, suing for divorce, charged her husband was an egotist. For your information, that's what a man is when he takes away the bid from his wife in a bridge game.

It is proposed to make the buyer of bootleg liquor guilty along with the seller. Looks as if they're trying to make it appear that a drinker actually has a part in violating the law.

Interior Decoration Is Club Subject

'Color in the Home' to Be Discussed by Katherine L. Kirby.

TO COLLECT PACKAGES

On Tuesday, December 3, the Narberth Women's Community Club program will be in charge of the American Home Department, Mrs. W. N. Mills, chairman. An interesting talk on practical interior decoration and an unusual demonstration of simple ways to plan effective color schemes for modern homes will be given by Katherine L. Kirby.

Miss Kirby is a graduate of the Philadelphia School of Design for Women. In her address entitled "Color in the Home" she discusses the fundamentals of color harmony and its application to interior decoration, the expression of individuality in tastefully-planned interiors; the balancing of colors. Samples of drapery materials, wall finishes, woodwork, floors, are used in an actual demonstration of color scheme planning.

There will be a collection of the Christmas packages to be sent to the boys and girls at South Mountain Sanitarium. The packages must be wrapped and labeled for girl or boy and the age. Narberth Hall, the home for orphan babies at Crossnore School, North Carolina, will also be one of the beneficiaries of the club's Christmas charity. Mrs. C. H. Shaw, chairman of Welfare Committee, will receive these donations.

Rehearsals for the Christmas pageant to be given Sunday, December 22, are under way and the beautiful Christmas thought is shown in the club's entire December program.

Main Line Residents Get Lettered License Tags

Several residents of the Main Line will have the distinction of possessing automobile licenses bearing letters instead of numbers. The single letters and combinations will supplant numbered licenses.

Tag B will be had by Mrs. Mary Fisher Brown, of Haverford, daughter of Governor Fisher. A. Atwater Kent, of Ardmore, will receive a license bearing his initials, AK. Other single letter licenses are M, by Mary A. Kelley, of Haverford; V, by Anne Vaclain, Rosemont. Other combinations include DM, by Donald M. Miller, of Bala; EL, Edward Peskay, of Cynwyd; GL, A. B. Littleton, Cynwyd; JB, James Benn, Jr., of Wynnewood; JJ, James Whelan, of Ardmore; MK, Mary A. Kelley, of Haverford; VC, H. C. Grubbs, of Merion; VF, Milton G. Baker, of Wayne.

Driver in Student's Death Held on Manslaughter

Henry Rush, of Ardmore, alleged driver of the hit-run car which last Sunday killed Isadore Wilensky, a student at Villanova College, was held without bail on a charge of manslaughter last Friday night by Magistrate Stillwagon at the Ardmore police station.

The hearing was held a few minutes after an inquest was conducted by Coroner George Huff, of Montgomery County. Henry Townsley, of Bryn Mawr, who is said to have been in the car when it struck Wilensky on Lancaster Pike in Bryn Mawr, was held under $15,000 bail as a witness.

Rush surrendered to police on Wednesday night. His cousin, Robert Rush, of Ardmore, and two girls, who are said to have been in the car, were freed upon their promise to reappear whenever summoned.

Bell Co. Announces Appointments and Plans For Expansion Program

Harry Woodman, district line foreman for the Bell Telephone Company of Pennsylvania in the Main Line district, has been appointed district construction foreman, it was announced this week by George K. Erb, district manager for the company here. Mr. Woodman succeeds Harry Walker, who has been appointed district equipment superintendent, with headquarters at Ogontz.

Jesse V. Fite, district safety supervisor, has been appointed district line foreman. Clarence L. Reifsnider succeeds Mr. Fite as district safety supervisor. Mr. Erb also announced that Thomas E. Ridge, formerly line foreman in the Upper Darby district, has been appointed district line foreman in the Main Line district, with headquarters at West Chester.

A $44,000,000 construction program of Statewide proportions is planned by the Telephone Company for 1930, according to an announcement made this week by Leonard H. Kinnard, president.

Although a large portion of the Bell Company's 1930 appropriations will be devoted to extension of central office facilities, nearly one-third of the total will be spent on "outside plant." This constitutes the equipment and apparatus outside the central offices, including such items as poles, crossarms and aerial and underground cables. In round figures the outside plant expenditure will be $16,200,000.

Dick Merriwell to the Fore as Lower Merion Tells Radnor, "They Shall Not Pass"

Lower Merion Ends

Opportunity started it all off when Dick Krick threw a long forward pass meant for his compatriot, Warren Lentz. Then Tip Peters kept things moving by intercepting the pass and starting up the field. Here Mandes and Hansell did their mighty bit, the former taking out O'Dorisio at the start of that wonderful run, and then Hansell taking out Krick just at he was about to shove Peters out over the side line.

The boys on both teams played bang-up football all the way through the game.

Lentz and Krick were the mighty guns on the Radnor squad. Along with them O'Dorisio and Powers played a fine game.

For the Maroon Pennypacker, Lockwood and Hansell were superlative at the wing positions. Mandes, Peters and Scott stood the brunt of the attack in the backfield. Mandes and Scott played especially well in the ball carrying capacity. McDevitt again played a whale of a game at tackle. This boy has filled in mighty well in McLaughlin's place, and Jones should have a word of commendation also. The whole ensemble did well on the field that day. And now that the season is over praise should be bestowed equally upon the boys who worked together for the glory of the team and their school. A mighty fine season it was, everyone contributing his fine bit from the water boy to the coach.

Last season it was all Abington, this year it is Lower Merion. The king is dead! Long live the king!

Bits of Action.

It took a regular Dick Merriwell act to win for Lower Merion.

After two years of fruitless effort a goal line has at last been crossed in a Radnor-Lower game.

The victory gave Lower Merion the Suburban championship, the second leg on the Derham cup and a long-delayed revenge for the 1926 lacing which Radnor administered to them.

It gave Radnor a headache and the determination to make forward passes longer and better in 1930.

After the Radnor students had descended upon their sections in the stands the Lower Merion Junior High School band and a junior girls' drum and bugle corps entertained the fans with sweet music. The kids were attractively garbed in white and orange and made a creditable showing.

They soon gave way to the senior high school band of about 50 pieces, which, dressed in maroon uniforms, took their place on the Lower Merion side.

Music was hurled across the field in copious quantities, with honors about even, and it was no place for a man with a headache.

Meanwhile the stands had been rapidly filling up, and by starting time a fat man had no chance whatever of being accommodated.

The soft field made the going bad for the players and the falling snow made it uncomfortable for the spectators.

It was cold enough to freeze the thorax of a brass monkey, and the man who put on his heavy undies, wore a sweater, overcoat and galoshes, was a gentleman of discernment.

The beautiful tribute to the well-beloved Principal Pennypacker was an impressive ceremony.

Radnor wore their same old uniforms, but Lower Merion's squad was arrayed in white jerseys to distinguish them from the Radnor Red.

After the three captains had met and tossed the well-known coin to the accompaniment of much camera clicking, the game was ready to begin.

Between the halves the bands played their rival's school songs, a tribute to the good sportsmanship which prevailed.

'Twas not always thus, for in between the halves used to be the time for hanging pennants to the goal posts with an ensuing riot.

If anyone had a desire to start any excitement it was unnoticeable, and everything was peaceful and orderly.

Big Thanksgiving Dinner at Bryn Mawr Hospital

A real Thanksgiving dinner was served yesterday to every patient, nurse, doctor and employee living at the Bryn Mawr Hospital.

None was forgotten from the superintendent to the janitors; all had a bounteous turkey dinner with all the fixings, including mince pie. Of course there were a few patients too ill to partake of such a repast but all those who were able were given a full course dinner from soup to nuts. Special attention was paid to all trays and they were made as attractive as possible; in many instances the ice cream served at the evening meal was frozen in special molds appropriate to the occasion.

More than 300 pounds of fresh-killed turkey were used in preparing the repast.

Thanksgiving Day was also Donation Day at the Bryn Mawr Hospital and the officials of the institution wish to thank the many friends who sent donations.

Chicken pox has supplanted measles as the popular disease. Eight new cases of the former were reported during the past week by the Health Officer of the Lower Merion Board of Health. Two cases of scarlet fever, both in Ardmore, were reported, as were three cases of measles, and three of mumps.

Five-Year Development Plan for Girl Scouts

A five-year development plan, for "bigger and better Girl Scouting" was outlined at the annual banquet of the Philadelphia and Main Line Leaders' Association at the Bellevue last Monday night. Miss Doris Hough, of the National Staff of New York, was the speaker, and told how the Men's National Advisory Committee, feeling that Girl Scouting has the very best program for leisure hours to offer the growing girl, has guaranteed the $3,000,000 needed for the expansion.

The new plan will include a Camp Director to deal solely with camp matters; three Regional Directors in each of the eleven regions of the U. S.—to be in charge of camping, organization and training of leaders, instead of the one Director for all three activities as at present; enlargement of the Girl Scout magazine, "The American Girl," and enlargement of all training facilities for leaders. In this way, it is hoped that the goal of 500,000 Scouts in the United States in five years will be realized with ease—and perhaps exceeded!

A gift of $250,000 from John D. Rockefeller, Jr., was announced at the recent National Convention in New Orleans. Miss Hough said, bringing the Development Fund past the $1,500,000 mark already.

Headquarters for this district—District No. 8, of Philadelphia—are at 25 East Athens Avenue, Ardmore, where a Field Captain is in charge, ready to organize troops and answer any questions.

Penshurst Farm Ayreshires Make High Production

Testing under the Ayrshire Herd Test plan the one hundred and eighteen Ayreshires owned by Penshurst Farm, Narberth, during September, secured the second highest production average in Pennsylvania, with an average of 635 pounds of 4.08 per cent. milk, 25.88 pounds of butterfat. Every cow in the herd that had once freshened was included in computing this average, regardless of age or stage of lactation, reports Advanced Registry Superintendent W. A. Kyle, of the National Ayrshire Breeders' Association at Brandon, Vt.

Individual honors in the herd for production were won by Penshurst Sadie, a 4-year-old, which cow produced 1681 pounds of milk, 63.71 pounds of butterfat.

A MORNING WITH THE WARBLERS

By William J. Serrill

President of the Community Health and Civic Association, and secretary of the Merion Cricket Club. Mr. Serrill, a naturalist for many years, resides in Haverford.

And what of the aspect of these migrating hosts which glorify our May mornings? Of course, no description of individual birds can be attempted here; a more or less general comment must suffice. The warblers are smaller, slimmer, daintier birds than the sparrows—of quicker motions, and more restless, active habits. Their colors are varied, among the most vivid and brilliant known in the bird world, arranged in striking combinations, and laid on with a bold brush. Other birds, as the Bluebird, Tanager, Jay or Oriole, have equally vivid colors, but few others are so "decorated" with color combinations; not many others display so many different colors on crown, throat, breast, back, wings and tail. Generally speaking, too, the more brilliant tints crowd toward the front of the bird, leaving the back and tail less conspicuous, but in truth, there is no part of these gem-like creatures which is unadorned.

Sometimes solid patches of color stand in bold contrast with their surroundings, as the pure yellow crown cap of the Chestnut-side, the lovely pearl cap of the Magnolia, and the black velvet cap of the Wilson. How striking is the solid white throat of the Myrtle, and his solid yellow rump, the bold back of the throat of the Black-throated-green, and the marvelous flaming orange throat of the Blackburnian! Sometimes the colors are wonderfully blended and shaded, as the breast of the Parula, with its broad indefinite band of black, brown and yellow, inextricably mixed; the blended chestnut and yellow ear patches of the Cape May; or as in the Bay-breast, in which the whole bird is an indescribable blend of black, white, buff and chestnut forming a veiled effect of unusual charm.

Many of the warblers have features which seem to be purely bits of ornament, or can it be that these markings were given as an aid to the puzzled ornithologist in his efforts to identify? Witness the patch of red spots on the back of the Prairie, the chestnut spots on the crown of the Nashville, the beautiful brick-red streaks on the body of the Yellow, the broken black bands which border the pure yellow breast of the Prairie, the red bands on the sides of the immaculate white breast of the Chestnut-side, and the exquisite black necklace on the yellow breast of the Canadian. What can be more striking than the black and yellow masses of the Hooded? Or than the black and white bands on the face of the Golden-wing, like the pictured rays of the sun?

The bird books, in commenting on the songs of the warblers, not uncommonly speak of their family name as a monomer, as implying songs of more pretension and beauty than these dainty creatures possess. I do not agree with them. The song of the Yellow is a real warble of distinct charm, not long continued, but often repeated. And this warble of the Yellow constitutes the type for a fair number of the commoner migrating species, as the Magnolia, the Chestnut-side, the Black-throated-green, the Hooded, the Canadian and the Red-start. Now the songs of these seven species—all of them real warbles—so frequently ring

Before resuming our walk, let us pause to contemplate the phenomenon we have just witnessed. In the whole realm of bird-land there are few things to compare with it in beauty, in animation and in thrilling interest.

The gem-like loveliness of the individual birds, the great number of varieties participating, the wild charm of their rapid movements, their indifference to the presence of man, the beauty of the season and of the budding verdure among which they flit, the very brevity of their stay here with us, in their wonderful journey from distant land to distant land—these all combine as factors in this unique effect. To the novice it is bewildering, but to the experienced bird-lover, who recognizes each bird as he sees it, there is nought but unalloyed delight.

As many as twenty or more species may be seen in one of these warbler swarms; it is a pleasure even to name them. Those which one can confidently count on seeing every year are the Black-poll, the Black-and-white, the Worm-eating, the Blackburnian, the Blue-winged, the Parula, the Black-throated blue, the Yellow, the Myrtle, the Magnolia, the Chestnut-sided, the Black-throated green, the Wilson, the Canadian, and the Redstart. These would seem to be enough, but this cup is full to overflowing; the following may also be seen, and to the comparative rarity of these is due, in large part, the zest with which the warbler migration is awaited—the Golden-winged, the Tennessee, the Nashville, the Cape May and the Bay-breasted; to see one or more of these lends a glow to even a rainy day. But the lure has even more tempting bait, warblers so rarely seen that to find one is an event in one's lifetime. What would not one give to encounter the Mourning, the Yellow-throated, the Brewster's, the Cerulean, the Orange-crowned, or the Prothonotary? Having never seen any one of these in our home woods in thirty years of bird walks, one is tantalized with the knowledge that occasionally some one of them is reported.

Not entirely all of the warblers have yet been mentioned. The habits of several are such as to keep them mostly apart from these swarming hosts which enliven the trees, and this list holds some of the loveliest. There are the Hooded, the Prairie, the Palm, the Pine and the Water-thrush. The Palm warbler comes early and has mostly passed through by the time that the migration is at the full. The Pine is rarely seen except in pine forests.

Then, too, there are those charming members of the warbler family who stay and make their homes with us. In them is no wild instinct pushing ever onward, no brief glimpse during a rapid passage. When they arrive they are instantly at home; it is as though they had not been away. Lacking the charm that adheres to the rarity and the restless urge of the warblers which we see only as migrants—these cousins of theirs appeal in a different way; by becoming our neighbors and summer companions they reach a place in our hearts which only those who share our homes can fill. No—we cannot afford to do without the Kentucky, the Maryland Yellow-throat, the Yellow-breasted Chat or the Oven-bird. Without them home would not quite be home.

through the spring woods, and so dominate the song sounds reaching the ear, that it is no wonder the name "Warbler" has been given to the whole group, especially as the songs of the numerous other warbler species are mostly relatively inconspicuous. To be concluded.

Bargain—At That!

Due to a misplaced decimal point, a Model C Franklin touring car was advertised in this column in last week's issue for $3.50. Much annoyance to the advertiser was caused as a result and considerable amusement was had at the expense of this paper's staff. An official of an automobile club phoned the office to ship him "a dozen." The automobile should have been advertised for sale at three hundred and fifty ($350) dollars. It sounds like a bargain, even at the correct price, for which it still is held for sale. The corrected ad follows:

FOR SALE—Model C Franklin touring, 36,000 mileage. Excellent mechanical condition. New paint, good rubber, new spare, runs like new car. A fine buy at $350. Phone Ardmore 1136.

Income Tax Refund

Granted Merion Man

It is rare when one gets a refund on income tax from the government but such was the good fortune of Frank C. Kolb, of Merion. A credit of $168,031 was granted to Mr. Kolb this week for an overassessment of his income tax in 1926.

The mistake was due to elimination from his taxable income of certain amounts reported in the return as dividends received on stocks of domestic corporations and as capital net gains which were determined to have been realized from sales of assets consumed during 1925.

Home Service Work of Red Cross Brings Relief to Orphans, Disabled Veterans and Many Others

The Home Service work for the past year of the Main Line Branch of the American Red Cross divides itself into three groups: serious family problems; problems of the children of men who died in the service; and other miscellaneous groups.

The cases of orphans of ex-service men necessitate regular visits and the submitting of a carefully made-out form to the Veterans' Bureau. This report includes health, education, and habits of the child and benefits which it receives from the compensation.

Of the miscellaneous group, several were visits of inquiry for other Chapters. One was in reference to detailed compensation sent to the mother of a veteran. The mother lives in Italy.

Another case attempts to locate a veteran who has been missing since the war. His family believe him to be alive and they asked the Red Cross to help to locate him.

Still another case was that of a wanderer who left his home out West, toured through the country and stopped in the Red Cross office for relief.

It is interesting to know that there are many men of this type who require much intensive work while in the community. The usual method is to find them work while in the vicinity, and get in touch with their relatives or friends.

Still another case is one in which the army authorities asked us to investigate a home from which a man enlisted in the army and to which he would like to return before his period of enlistment is over.

This brief account of a few problems occupying the attention of the Red Cross worker shows that the Home Service is still an active and necessary part of the Red Cross work for the community.

The annual Roll Call secures continued support for the Home Service offered to veterans as well as for the many other Red Cross activities of our own locality and the country at large.

Montgomery Avenue Thru Traffic Street

Belmont Avenue Also Affected
By Ordinance; Stop Signs
Being Erected.

Montgomery Avenue has been made a through traffic highway from Spring Mill Road, Villanova, to the Cynwyd railroad bridge. A resolution authorizing the installation of the stop signs was adopted at the November meeting of the Lower Merion Board of Commissioners.

Belmont Avenue from City Line to the bridge at West Manayunk was also made a through traffic street. Conshohocken State Road from the Cynwyd bridge to City Line, the continuation of Montgomery Avenue, also is included. These signs are now being erected and the enforcement of the ordinance will begin when they are all in place.

This action will place Montgomery Avenue and Belmont Avenue in the same category that Lancaster Pike has been for more than a year.

An ordinance, number 342, was adopted fixing the amount of bond required of Peter C. Hess, Township Treasurer, for the next four years, beginning the first Monday in January, at $800,000.

An ordinance, number 343, was passed authorizing the construction of concrete curbing on the northwest side of City Line Avenue from Monument

Neighborhood Club Banquet a Success

Four Hundred Men Attend 22d
Annual Fete Tuesday at Penn A. C.

COMMUNITY IS PRAISED

"I want to go to Butte," a traveling man said to the clerk in a railroad ticket office. The clerk looked sadly at him (he knew his Butte) and said: "Brother, you don't want to go to Butte; you have to go there."

Bala-Cynwyd, Lower Merion and the rest of the Main Line was contrasted favorably with Butte and other communities in the United States by President Frank H. Sykes, of the Lower Merion Township Commission, who spoke at the twenty-second annual banquet of the Bala-Cynwyd Neighborhood Club, held in the Penn A. C. November 9. His subject was "Our Community."

"We hear of places where people came from," Mr. Sykes declared; "our community is a place of a different sort. Few local residents were born here. After all, the place of our birth is an accidental matter, but the place of our adoption is a great reflection on our intelligence."

Mr. Sykes praised, in a brief but glowing address, Lower Merion's schools, both public and private; its voluntary fire department, its zoning adjustment board and building regulations; its health board's safeguards of drinking water, milk, contagious disease, etc., and its efficient governing body. He alluded to the township's tax rate as lower than that of any nearby municipality.

"Webster tells us," he said, "that a community is a body of people having a common interest. It is more than land, houses and highways; it is a community of people. Our government, our trees, lawns and gardens make this region the attractive suburban region that it is, but they are, after all, only evidences that we are a community of worth-while people, who insist on good, clean government; who believe that making a life is at least as important as making a living. It doesn't make a lot of difference where you are; it's the people you live with that count."

"If the Neighborhood Club accomplished nothing else but to enable Bala-Cynwyd's citizens to set aside wealth, strivings and position, and to sit down in pleasant company and break bread together in good fellowship—that alone would justify the club's existence."

Four hundred people attended the banquet, including chiefs of the Lower Merion and Narberth fire companies,

Banquet Speaker

who were guests of Township Treasurer Peter C. Hess; Lower Merion School Superintendent S. Edgar Downs, Junior High School Principal E. H. Snow, President Richard J. Hamilton, of Ardmore Chamber of Commerce, and Bala-Cynwyd's clergymen:

Dr. Henry A. F. Hoyt, rector emeritus of St. John's Church, who pronounced the invocation; Dr. A. E.

Clattenburg, the Rev. Benjamin N. Bird, Dr. H. W. Bieber and the Rev. Frank M. Gray.

President James E. Hammer, of the Neighborhood Club, acted as toastmaster.

A thrilling, friendly and intensely human oration, "Front Line Revelations," was given by Captain Tim Healy, of Australia, who flew from Chicago to meet in time his club engagement here.

Two pleasant groups of songs were given by a male chorus of forty voices, directed by Joseph Smith, and assisted by Miss Velma Godshall, soprano and banjo soloist. Brahms' "Lullaby," sung a capella, was especially artistic and pleasing.

Dr. Herbert J. Tily, Cynwyd, was called from the speakers' table to conduct the chorus, which he has sponsored, in a strikingly effective rendition of "Morning," by Speaks and Baldwin.

The dinner, which included filet mignon, was ample, good, and well served.

Church Celebrates Fifth Anniversary

Special Services Sunday at Baptist Church of the Evangel.

Special services will mark the fifth anniversary of the new home of the Baptist Church of the Evangel, Narberth—and also of its pastor's ministry in the Borough. At the 11 o'clock service Sunday morning, the Lord's Supper will be observed, and the sermon will be preached by Dr. J. Milnor Wilbur, of the Baptist Institute, in Philadelphia, who is a former pastor.

At 7:30 P. M. evening worship, the young people of the church will present the work of the past five years in the Church School, and outline their aspirations for the future.

Next Wednesday, at 6:30 P. M., a fifth anniversary church dinner will be held, with special music and addresses. Members and friends of the church are invited to attend.

The church was organized May 25, 1891, as a mission, and the first permanent building was formally opened April 14, 1892, with the Rev. Harold Kennedy as pastor. He was succeeded by Dr. J. Milnor Wilbur, 1902-1907; the Rev. Alexander H. Abbott, 1907-1910; the Rev. Emerson L. Swift, 1911-16; and the Rev. Avery S. Demmy, 1917-1924. The new church building was dedicated the last week in November, 1924, when the Rev. Robert E. Keighton became pastor.

Miss Krout Weds Mr. Elmer Menges

The marriage of Miss Louise Krout, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Krout, of Essex Avenue, to Mr. Elmer Menges, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Menges, of Bermudian, Pa., which took place Monday evening at the Holy Trinity Lutheran Church, Narberth, was a brilliant affair. The Rev. Cletus A. Senft, pastor of the church, performed the ceremony.

The church was beautifully decorated with ferns and palms and white, orchid and yellow chrysanthemums.

The bride's gown was of white bridal satin and her bouquet was of white roses and sweet peas. Her veil was of lace with a panel down the back and her slippers were of white satin.

Miss Helen Krout, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor and wore a maize satin silhouette gown and a maize picture hat. Her slippers matched her gown. She carried a bouquet of orchid chrysanthemums.

The bridesmaids, Miss Blanche M. Menges, of York, and Miss Mildred Raffensperger, of Madison, N. J., wore orchid satin gowns and orchid picture hats. They carried bouquets of yellow chrysanthemums. Their slippers matched their gowns.

Mrs. P. B. Krout, mother of the bride, wore a black transparent velvet gown and carried a bouquet of red roses and lilies of the valley.

'Why Leave Home,' Movietone Adaptation of 'Cradle Snatchers' - Narberth

Gaiety, music and youth—these are the highlights of "Why Leave Home?" the musical comedy version of "Cradle Snatchers," which starts its local showing today at the Narberth Theatre and continues Saturday matinee and evening.

Classed as one of the best comedies yet to reach the speaking screen, this all-talking, singing, dancing Fox Movietone feature speeds from one hilarious situation to another with never a dull moment.

"Look What You've Done to Me," "Doing the Boom Boom," "Old Soldiers Never Die" and "Bonita" are some of the musical numbers which are being whistled, sung and hummed wherever the picture has been shown, and they add immensely to the picture's entertainment values.

Walter Catlett, Sue Carol and Nick Stuart have the principal roles, with a brilliant supporting cast of screen and stage favorite that includes David Rollins, Dixie Lee, Richard Keene, Jean Bary, Jed Prouty, Dot Farley, Laura Hamilton, Ilka Chase and Gordon de Main.
